Annual report

The lighthouse at Skarvik was lit for the first time on a wet October evening in 1871, and for almost a century afterwards the same family kept its lamp burning. Their log books survive in the town archive: eleven volumes of weather, ships, repairs and the occasional complaint about the price of paraffin.

Highlights

- Record visitor numbers

Plans

1. Restore the lens
2. Extend opening hours
3. Recruit guides

What emerges from the logs is not a story of heroism but of attention: a century of people who looked at the same stretch of sea every day and wrote down what they saw, so that others could find their way home in the dark.
